* Volumetric sum of the customer’s domestic and irrigation water use shall be the basis for calculating the volume charge.

 Volumetric sum of the customer’s domestic with irrigation water use shall be the basis for calculating the volume charge. This total volume shall be divided by the number of dwelling units (DU’s) in the associated multi-family complex to arrive at the average water use per DU). This then is the basis for calculating the volume charge per DU. This volume charge per DU shall then be multiplied by the associated number of DU’s to arrive at the total volume charge for the customer.
