A carport structure shall not be drive-through unless attached to the dwelling and where all travel ways shall have a lawful curb to a public street. When attached to a principal structure and/or located within a side yard and/or visible from a public right-of-way for a minimum distance of 100 feet, carport structures shall contain a minimum four (4) foot knee wall on all exterior elevations other than approved ingress/egress. Driveway, Commercial: Means a driveway serving any property, except a one (1) or two (2) family (duplex) residence which shall be paved with asphalt or concrete.

An easement does not qualify a property as being exempt from public road frontage requirements.

Garage, Residential – Private: A completely enclosed permanent all-weather structure which has been designed for the primary storage of automobiles which are owned and used by the occupants of the dwelling and is anchored to a concrete foundation and slab with a finished concrete floor therein. A garage may be either attached to a principal structure or detached as

A garage structure shall not be drive-through unless attached to the dwelling (all vehicle entry points shall have entry doors as described herein) and where all travel ways shall have a lawful curb to a public street. Electrical and plumbing connections may be permitted to a garage provided there is no habitable living space that receives primary ingress/egress there from. The establishment of a kitchen or bath within or receiving primary ingress/egress from a garage shall be prohibited although washer and dryer connections may be located within a garage but not within the required parking space(s). The alteration of the interior of a garage (e.g. the creation of a demising wall) without the removal of the garage door shall be prohibited. The enclosure of any required garage shall be prohibited unless a garage structure is provided elsewhere on the zoned lot. Garages may be heated or unheated provided no residential habitation occurs therein and furthermore provided a heated garage shall not qualify as minimum heated square footage/floor area which may be required by the zoning ordinance. A two (2) vehicle garage as described herein (either attached or detached) shall be required for all new construction, re-construction, and remodels where a building permit is issued to add heated or unheated space which expands the building footprint (single-family attached and detached; condominium; and multi-family dwelling units which are two (2) or more bedrooms) effective December 2, 2008, but a garage shall not be considered in order to qualify to meet any minimum floor area requirements of a structure which may presently exist or hereafter be adopted. Vertical construction (other than new construction) shall generally be exempt from the two (2) vehicle garage requirement unless the amount of square footage added (heated or unheated) exceeds one-third (1/3) the existing floor area in which case the two vehicle garage requirement shall be mandatory commensurate with permit issuance.
